Ky. 7 to be open for traffic in time for festival

Sorghum Festival planners say they have been assured the relocated sector of Ky. 7 (Morgan County's "beautiful" new highway) will be open in time for the festival. View above is of the "beautiful" southern end of the new construction looking north from West Liberty. Old Ky. 7 is at left.

"Yesteryear: Looking Back In Time"—looking back to early festivals, the early festival as it now is, evolved from meager beginnings and many changes:

The smattering of small funeral home-type tents has been replaced by a block-long tent covering arts and crafts, large tent covering the eating and rest area, the Country Store, and sorghum sales.

Gone the hodgepodge of food booths, replaced by larger, more attractive, and more efficient booths to better serve festival visitors.

With growth, it became necessary to expand to Old Mill Park—the mule-drawn cane mill, the grist mill, blacksmith, and little train for children, along with other crafts, food booth, and live entertainment throughout the festival.

Many things have not changed. One, the friendly, welcoming hospitality extended to one and all. The festival is a magnet that draws old classmates to reunions, long-time friends and relatives returning to meet, mingle, and talk over old times. There are dedicated craft shoppers who attend the festival to purchase that one-of-a-kind hand made quilt, place mats, or another unique ornament found under the big top or at the souvenir booth.

Then there are those attracted to food, tossing the diet side, indulging in and sampling the myriad of food offerings: hamburgers, hot dogs, barbecue, country ham and biscuit sandwiches, pinto beans and fixings, funnel cakes, dried apple pies, ice cream and apple dumplings, the well-stocked Country Store, and that Morgan County sorghum.

The festival's founders would be happy to see the event being carried on in the tradition they envisioned. Co-founder of the Morgan County Sorghum Festival, the late Kathleen Blair, is being remembered. Festival Chair Lara May suggested, and by unanimous decision of the planning committee, she declared the 35th annual Sorghum Festival be dedicated in loving memory of Kathleen Blair.

New craft at this year's Sorghum Festival: Randy Bullard's themed clocks that can be personalized to suit. Bullard is from Tennessee.

Look for these new crafters and their offerings: Lois Stinson's knitting booth with scarves, gloves, shawls; Carl Storey's hand made baskets and wood crafts, Geraldine Peters' lye soap and wood-n-whimsey; Mae Fultz's hand made quilts, Jack Hill's tie-dyed items, Glen Rawlins' hand made gold and silver wire jewelry, and Randy Bullard with them clocks (see photo above) and Levi jeans art.

Morgan Countians joining in hurricane relief efforts

As of Monday, Morgan Countians had responded to the tune of over $20,000 in monetary contributions to the American Red Cross and other relief agencies to help victims of the Hurricane Katrina disaster.

Money for disaster relief collected by West Liberty's four banks totaled $9,488.00 as of Monday, and contributions made to the Morgan County Red Cross Chapter stood at $11,000 Monday morning, according to Executive Director Brenda Jones.

In addition, quantities of canned foods, paper products, and other items have been donated and some has already been trucked to the disaster areas.

A number of Morgan County volunteers have been and are assisting with relief efforts in Louisiana, Mississippi, and Alabama and various other local residents employed by firms subcontracted by the Federal Emergency Management Administration (FEMA) are now or soon will be assisting with cleanup operations.

State Trooper Donnie McGraw was one of several Kentucky State Police volunteers who traveled to the disaster area to assist in the immediate aftermath of the storm.

Volunteers from Eastern Kentucky Correctional Complex joined other Kentucky Corrections officers who rushed bedding and other supplies to the New Orleans area and stayed to assist.

Corrections Officers Bryan Hillman and Ed Manning returned Sunday after 14 days in the disaster area where they helped establish and operate temporary jail facilities for inmates evacuated from the city's flooded jail.

Marine Corps Band to perform at Festival

West Liberty Mayor Bob Nickell announced this week that the U.S. Marine Corps Band stationed at the Marine Corps Logistics Base in Albany, Ga., will be in West Liberty Saturday, Sept. 24, to march and perform in the Sorghum Festival Parade at 1:00 p.m. And later in the day, the Marine Band will present a concert at Old Mill Park.

Mayor Nickell, a former Marine, who has worked with the Corps for several months to nail down scheduling, said the band's appearance is being sponsored by the West Liberty Tourism Commission.

The band will perform at Old Mill Park at 6:00 p.m. with an exciting program of marches, patriotic favorites, show tunes, jazz, and traditional selections for wind ensemble.

The concert promises to be an event the entire family will enjoy, Mayor Nickell said.

Formed in 1990, the Albany Marine Band travels in excess of 50,000 miles each year, performing hundreds of concerts and ceremonies. "They carry on the long-standing tradition of excellence and service to their country and their Corps," Nickell said. "They are the few, the proud, the Marines."

"It's a performance people will not want to miss," he added.

Mayor blocks truck bids following fireworks at City Council meeting

Event gets underway Friday, Sept. 23, and continues thru 25th

By a vote of 3 to 2, the West Liberty City Council ignored the advice of Mayor Bob Nickell and voted at a special meeting Monday to proceed with opening of bids for a $130,000 equipment truck for the fire department. The action followed a heated discussion over whether the money should instead be used to replace one of the city's three firetrucks that was badly damaged in a wreck Saturday.

Bids to replace the city's equipment truck with a new, larger model were scheduled to be opened Tuesday, and City Attorney Joleen Frederick said she requested Monday's meeting to give the council an opportunity reconsider its decision to replace the department's equipment truck "when a new pumper truck is now needed." To wait until the day of the bid opening and then decide to stop the bid process could open the city to possible legal action, Frederick said.

The vote to proceed with the bid opening came after Fire Chief David Jones and Assistant Chief Jason James both said the equipment truck currently in use by the department is too small and said they favored buying a new one and replacing the wrecked pumper with a used one.

Invoking provisions included in the Kentucky Revised Statutes, Mayor Nickell on Tuesday issued an order cancelling the scheduled bid opening, stating in his order his belief that "purchase of an equipment truck . . . is well beyond the needs of the city and . . . will leave the city in a position of waiting another decade or two decades before (a firehouse) can be built in order to house the necessary equipment to protect our citizens."

Clean Up Time

It's Sorghum Festival time again—that time of year when we get our chance to welcome thousands. This is also our opportunity to shine and polish and look our best. Residents are asked to give it a little extra effort when they mow and tidy their lawns, and businesses are reminded to clean up in front of and behind their buildings and make sure everything is as neat as it can possible be. We need to put forth a little extra time and show off our fair city. Please do your best to help make this year's Sorghum Festival the best one ever.

Signups are needed now for Phase II Water Pjt.

The Morgan County Water District has begun accepting signups for the Phase II Water Line Extension Project. The district must have $50,000 in local tap-on fees in the bank before USDA Rural Development will release funds approved for the project, said Barbara Stacy, water district manager.

The following roads are to be considered for water line extensions if there are enough signups from these areas: Ky. 2498, Ky. 705, Rt. 844, Murphy Fork Road, Nickell Branch Road, Pekin Road, New Cummer Road, Ky. 3345, Denniston Road, Ky. 976, Barnett Ridge Road, Peyton Ridge Road, and Vest Branch.

"Tap-on fees are currently $590 and we will work with individuals who wish to make arrangements to pay this fee in installments," Stacy said, "but we must have $50,000 from tap-on fees in the bank before this project can begin."

"The water district is currently working with funding sources to get all the required paperwork submitted and we hope that construction can begin by early spring," Stacy said.

Persons interested in signing up for water service are invited to stop by the district office at 408 Prestonsburg Street (the former Kennedy Library) to review the project map to see if they are in the project area. Information also can be obtained by calling 743-1204.

Firetruck wrecks, fireman is injured

One of West Liberty's three firetrucks was badly damaged Saturday about noon when it went out of control, struck an embankment, and overturned on Wells Hill Road near the foot of the hill leading to the hospital.

Mayor Bob Nickell said the truck was enroute from the fire station on Wells Hill to the Lion Apparel parking lot to undergo a hose pressure check when the accident occurred.

Emergency services personnel had to remove the top of the cab to extract the driver, fireman Dan Leland, who was removed to Morgan County ARH and later airlifted to a Lexington hospital for treatment of head injuries and released.

The wrecked 1961 pumper truck has been ordered impounded and all maintenance records sealed pending an investigation by state fire officials, Nickell said.

KSP Trooper Bowman is promoted and reassigned

FRANKFORT, Ky.. Aug. 23—Kentucky State Police Trooper Kenneth Bowman has promoted to sergeant and reassigned from the Morehead Post to the Campbellsburg Post.

Bowman, who's been with the KSP for six years, is a graduate of Morgan County High School and attended Morehead State University. He's a native of and resides in Ezel in Morgan County.

Lieutenant Governor and Secretary of the Justice and Public Safety Cabinet Steve Pence complimented Sgt. Bowman and 38 other promoted officers for their efforts. "These men and women ... have dedicated themselves to advancing the mission of the Kentucky State Police," said Pence. "On behalf of the Commonwealth, I want to commend the promotional recipients ... for their commitment to public service and safety."

KSP Commissioner Mark L. Miller cited the diligence that troopers must possess to be promoted. "These officers have dedicated countless hours of training, studying, testing, interviewing, and otherwise maintaining the highest standards to take their place as leaders in the Kentucky State Police," said Miller.

Experience Works pgm. observes 40th birthday

As we celebrate National Employ Older Workers Week we also celebrate the 40th birthday of Experience Works (formerly Green Thumb) and the Senior Community Service Employment Program (SCSEP)!

When the concept of an older worker community service employment pilot project first emerged in 1965, there were those who wondered whether it would have suff~cient appeal for older Americans.

Today — 40 years later — the verdict is clear beyond any reasonable doubt. The SCSEP has enabled low-income older Americans to help themselves while helping others in their communities. This fulfilling work experience has also produced another benefit for older workers—a means to learn new skills to move into gainful and productive employment.

The SCSEP, now Title V of the Older Americans Act, evolved from Operation Mainstream, which was first funded in 1965 to provide jobs for the chronically unemployed. Older Americans were one of the target groups to be served by Operation Mainstream. Throughout its history, the SCSEP has served some of the most disadvantaged persons in our entire society, particularly those with poverty incomes, limited education and minorities.

Green Thumb (now Experience Works) was the first older worker pilot project funded under Operation Mainstream. It was launched in 1965 with 280 participants in four states: Arkansas, Minnesota, New Jersey, and Oregon. The National Farmers Union sponsored Green Thumb, which provided older, low-income rural persons with a broad range of training and service opportunities.

Most projects initially involved beautification and improvement of publicly owned areas, including parks, the restoration of historical sites, and the development of recreational areas.

When the U.S. Department of Labor renewed its contract with Green Thumb, Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz said, "Our senior citizens don't want handouts. They want work. They want to continue to make a contribution to their fellow man. They want to continue to be a vital and living part of American society."l

Today, Experience Works participants continue to serve their communities in a variety of public service capacities. Paid the minimum wage and training 20 hours a week, you'll find them reading to children at the library, running the local blood bank, caring for the sick and disabled, assisting teachers and students in elementary schools, operating recycling centers, staffmg emergency hotlines, cooking meals at senior centers, clerking at Veterans Administration offices, giving tours in local museums, and yes, in some areas still building parks and working on beautification projects.

Since its inception the SCSEP has helped over one million people enter the job market each year by providing workforce services to older Americans and exploring ways for older workers to respond to the rapidly changing skills demands of business.

"Americans aged 55 or older are a dedicated and experienced core of our workforce," said Experience Works Regional Director Carole Kincaid. "Their contributions to the nation as paid workers and volunteers in both the private and public sectors are immeasurable."

America is witnessing a dramatic growth in the number of citizens who are 55 or older, a trend that will continue well into the 21 st century. By 2008, 40 percent of the labor force will be age 45 or older, and 8 million more Americans age 55 or older will be in the labor force than there were in 1998.

The Committee on Economic Development cites surveys indicating that employers rate older workers high on factors such as judgment, commitment to quality, attendance and punctuality. These qualities, coupled with their "old fashioned employer loyalty," make older workers an attractive resource for employers seeking workers and possibly mentors for younger workers.

Studies have indicated that the SCSEP can produce tax savings because the participants leave the food stamp or Supplemental Security Income rolls aBcer their training, then become employed in the private sector and independent of Federal support.

Throughout its history, the SCSEP has enjoyed solid bipartisan support in Congress as its focus has increasingly shifted from income maintenance to training and transitioning workers into private industry.

Any older worker who would like to participate in the program can call 1-877820-5939

Relief Effort...

their time assisting with the evacuation of jail inmates to to temporary facilities at the city's bus and train stations, Hillman said part of their duty was booking some 300 to 350 looters arrested during the early days of the disaster.

Hillman said that for an entire week, the bus station where he was assisting had the only phone in the city that worked.

He said the devastation in New Orleans was far worse than could be determined by watching news broadcasts.

Four other EKCC officers left on Friday to assist law enforcement agencies in New Orleans and planned to stay for at least a week. Hillman said the cleanup in Louisiana will be tremendous undertaking and said he plans to return to the area with other Department of Corrections personnel.

Red Cross Director Jones said the local chapter, like other chapters across the nation, will be conducting training sessions during the next few weeks for volunteers who wish to assist in the nationwide relief effort.

She said she has received numerous calls from local people in the medical field who said they are willing to go to the disaster area to help, and also from local residents with extra rooms or residences who have volunteered to take in families displaced by the hurricane. All such offers are forwarded on to FEMA, which maintains a nationwide list of individuals and organizations offering to house storm victims, Jones said.

Local efforts to assist with the relief effort are continuing. Banks, grocery stores, and the Red Cross are no longer accepting foodstuffs and clothing, but are still accepting money, which can be immediately forwarded to the appropriate relief agencies or organizations and put to use more efficiently.

Lundie Wright, of West Liberty, and the Fellowship Singers, from Tennessee, will be performing at Old Mill Park during the annual Morgan County Sorghum Festival. Lundie and his group are scheduled to perform Sunday, Sept. 25, from 2 to 3 p.m.

Sammy Adkins to appear at Sorghum Festival on Sept. 23

Sammy Adkins and the Sandy Hook Mountain Boys have been invited to perform at the Morgan County Sorghum Festival on Friday, Sept. 23, at Old Mill Park, in West Liberty. Sammy and his band--Danny Davis playing banjo and singing tenor and baritone vocals, T.J. "Buggs" Chaffin playing lead guitar; and James Lowe, playing bass--will take the stage at 8 p.m. This is their first performance at the Sorghum Festival for several years and Sammy says he is looking forward to meeting his friends, and playing and singing for festival goers.

Sammy Adkins

Earlier this year Sammy released an all gospel CD entitled "What A Day That Will Be". The CD is made up of a nice selection of gospel songs, including three originals--Voice From Above, Coon Hunters Heaven, and Look Over Me Lord--written by Mr. Adkins and John B. Preston. This CD is one that bluegrass gospel enthusiasts will want to add to their collection. It will be available, along with other recordings, during Sammy's performance at the Sorghum Festival.

Don't forget...come by Old Mill Park on Sorghum Festival Friday, at 8 p.m., to hear some of the finest mountain style and bluegrass music around.

Roger Ball for his kind words and going to the hospital to see mom. Thanks to the singers. Their songs were so pretty and I'm sure mom loved them. Thanks to all the pallbearers: Terry Fannin, Keith Burchett, Eric Sparks, Dennis Ball, Allen Keeton, and Elzie Keeton, Jr.. Again, we appreciated everyone who tried to help mom, but the people we want to thank most is Tammy and Dee Dee. They were the brightest part of her days. She loved her granddaughters dearly.

We love you mom.

God bless,
Gracie's family

Margaret Stacy Circle picnic held in Old Mill Park Sept. 6

The Margaret Stacy Circle met at the Old Mill Park, in West Liberty, on September 6 to have their annual picnic. Brother Garry Jones said grace and a wonderful meal was enjoyed.

A short business meeting was conducted before the guest speaker presented her program.

Jonell reminded everyone to get their bulb orders in to Jenni by Sept. 12. She received a note from Jane thanking us for doing her wedding reception. We also discussed plans for the October meeting.

Jonell then introduced our guest speaker, Cindy Lowy, a nationally known jeweler, artist, author, and speaker. Her mom, Colista Ledford, was with her. Cindy's father is the well-known bluegrass singer, Homer Ledford.

Cindy shared things with us from her book "Harmony and Me". She told us of her year of separation from her husband, the experiences she had from that. During this low, hopeless period in her life she met an angel and went through a spiritual awakening. She and her husband got back together and they now have an eighteen year old son.

She went on to talk to us about guilt and forgiveness. She asked "When you do something wrong do you let it go, or do you hang on to it? It is hardest for us to forgive ourselves. Just let go of the guilt and forgive ourselves and forgive others.

She suggested making a list of things you feel guilty about and then forgive yourself. Cindy then read a poem she wrote called "A Heavy Load", a poem about guilt. She says if you can't forgive yourself you can't forgive others and we have angels to help us let go of guilt. She was a very inspirational speaker and she helps you to think positive, happy thoughts.

She brought her books and jewelry to share with us so we looked and visited with her and her mom.

Those attending the picnic meeting were Kara Elam and son, Jackson, Jenni Ison, Georgia Stamper, Pauline McKenzie, Barbara Ison, Linda Patrick, Emily Bolin, Bev Bell, Anita Hunley, Pam Rose, Anna Jean Allen, Peggy Weddington, Sallie May, Christine Gevedon, Helen Jones, Wilma Faulkner, Jonell Tobin, Judy Elam, Kathy Walter, Mark Walter, Patty Murphy, Bea Robinson, Bridgette Murphy, Lori Keeton, Laura May, Brenda Smith, and our guest speaker, Cindy Lowy, and her mother, Colista Ledford. Twenty-nine were present.

Another thought that Cindy shared is when someone smiles you usually smile back so share a smile with someone today!

Congratulations go out to Brother Garry Jones for his new granddaughter.

Growing at Grace

Pastor Mike Lindon and the congregation at Grace Baptist Church are looking forward to the erecting of a new marquee style sign in the coming weeks, preparation is already under way.

Announcements of the events at church are currently communicated through the weekly bulletin and verbal reports made at services. The new sign will allow us to better announce events to members and the community.

The current sign is the original one made and erected when Grace began in the one hundred and thirty year old building in Malone as a mission from Faith Baptist Church at Caney. The wooden letters on the sign were hand made by the late Paul Davis. The letters over the past years have cracked and are falling apart, but will be saved and preserved as a remembrance of the one who made them. The first members of Grace remember fondly the services in the old building where you had to wear extra socks in the winter because the heat never seemed to go to the floor. We have now been in the new building almost five years and memories are fading like the old sign, but our mission and goal remains the same, to bring lost people to Jesus Christ.

We have been really blessed by our growth and the new sign is one more indication that we are a growing church. Grace Baptist Church is located on Rt. 191 in Malone. We love having visitors and everyone is welcome!

Junction News

By Kathy Bolin

Sept. 12--Greetings from the Junction.

This past week several farmers whom have continued to raise tobacco have started the annual labor of cutting and housing, leaving many fields in our area barren. As many of you know, last year the government discontinued funding our tobacco growers, but many farmers are still raising the burley crop. It is difficult to end this part of one's life, something that has been grown for many, many years in our area.

Our traditional Sorghum Festival will be held the weekend after next in West Liberty. On Friday schools will be closed so that Morgan County can open their business district to the heritage of our county. Visitors will flood the streets searching booths for that special homemade craft. I especially love the parade on Saturday. It is good to wave and laugh with the participants as they drive by.

This coming weekend we will be having our annual hayride at Williams Creek Elkfork Church. It will start at 1:00 at the church. Lunch will be served under the shelter house. Please come and enjoy a great day.

Last weekend my neighbors, the Josephs, who own the property behing us, lost their barn in a fire. The fire started about 1:30-2:00 a.m. and by 8:00 a.m. the barn had burned to the ground.

I'd like to welcome Beverly Cantrell back to her home on Lick Branch. Beverly had an automobile accident several weeks back and has been in UK Hospital with a broken arm and leg. Hopefully she is now on the mend. Herbert Wright will be coming home on Thursday of this week from Cardinal Hill, where he has been the past couple of weeks, receiving therapy. Herbert also broke his leg and was unable to walk after the accident. I hope that both of you are now on the mend.

I would like to wish Ivy Leeper a Happy Belated Birthday. Her big celebration was on Labor Day.

Also, to Wes Montgomery, keep those touch downs going. Go Cougars!!

Morgan County Child Support Office is honored as 10th best in Kentucky

Morgan County Attorney Steve O'Connor, Barbara Cravens, and Gay Stacy, Child Support Case Managers in the County Attorney's Office, were in Frankfort recently to receive a certificate recognizing them for being one of the top ten child support enforcement offices in Kentucky. Of the 120 county offices throughout the Commonwealth, Morgan County finished 10th, the only county in Eastern Kentucky, to achieve this distinction.

County Attorney Steve O'Connor, indicated that the criteria the state uses to rank the Child Support Offices throughout the state is based on paternity establishments, having court orders entered establishing the monthly child support obligation as well as taking into consideration the percentage of child support actually collected.

He indicated that the Morgan County office finished last year ranked 31st in the state and had as a goal to be one of the state's top offices. "Barbara and Gay are veteran child support case managers," said O'Connor. "Both have several years of dedicated service to the children and families of Morgan County."

The County Attorney said much of the credit for the success the County Attorney's Offce has achieved should also go to the local court system, the Morgan County Sheriff's Office, and the Commonwealth Attorney's Office.

O'Connor added that of all the duties that go with the County Attorney's Office, he believes that the work being done through the Child Support Office on behalf of Morgan County children is by far the most rewarding.

His offce typically has between 1,000 and 1,300 active child support cases at any given time. He said since his election in 1990, approximately $8 million has been collected in child support payments in Morgan County, "which has helped make the lives of Morgan County children more stable and secure."

O'Connor added that his office plans to continue working hard to continue to improve all areas of the child support program and to continue to provide the best possible service to Morgan County families.

Rinse and Return Day to be held at Oldfield's and Wrigley 7-711

Proper rinsing and riddance of pesticide and herbicide containers is easy to do, saves money, and helps protect the environment. Through the Rinse and Return program, Morgan County residents will have the opportunity to properly dispose of any plastic containers sized five gallons or less.

Rinse and Return Day will be held Friday, Sept. 16, from 10 a.m. until 12 p.m., at Oldfield's Store, at Mize, and from 1:00 p.m. to 2:00 p.m. at Wrigley 7-711, at Wrigley. All containers must be properly rinsed, have no lids nor paper labels attached.

There are two ways to properly rinse containers; Pressure rinsing and triple rinsing.

How to Pressure Rinse

1. Remove cover from container. Empty the pesticide into the spray tank and let the container drain for 30 seconds.

2. Continue holding the container upside down over the sprayer tank opening. Rinsate will run into the sprayer tank.

3. Insert the pressure-rinse nozzle by puncturing through the bottom of the pesticide container.

4. Rinse for length of time recommended by mnanufacturer (generally 30 seconds or more).

How to Triple Rinse

1.Remove cover from container. Empty the pesticide into the sprayer tank and let the container drain for 30 seconds.

2. Fill the container 10% to 20% full of water or rinse solution.

3. Secure the cover on the container.

4. Swirl the container to rinse all inside surfaces.

5. Remove cover from the container. Add the rinsate from the container to the sprayer tank and let drain for 30 seconds or more.

6. Repeat steps 2 through 5 two more times.

7. Puncture container.

How To Participate

1. Triple rinse or pressure rinse all containers when emptied. Remember, it is best to rinse containers immediately after they are emptied. Some pesticide residues solidify quickly, and become difficult to remove from the container if left in the jug.

2. Dispose of the pesticide caps and remove sleeves and labels from containers. The pesticide caps are made from a different plastic material that can not be currently recycled.

3. Bring all properly rinsed, five gallon or smaller, plastic containers on September 16 to Oldfield's from 10:00--12:00 p.m. and Wrigley 7-711 from 1:00-2:00 p.m. Keep empty containers in a dry, secure place until the collection date. Each empty pesticide container returned will be inspected to ensure it has been properly rinsed. Unrinsed containers will not be accepted. Returned containers will be run through a chipping machine to reduce their bulk. Material will then be shipped to a facility to be reused in the manufacture of a new pesticide container.

For further information, contact Sarah Fannin-Holliday at the Morgan County Extension Service at 743-3292.

and 4 of 6 free throws made by Shey Williams.

The Cougars won, 35-32. Shay Williams led the scoring with 14 and Lara Hembree followed with 10 points.

The win over Magoffin put Morgan up against the Menifee Wildcats in the finals of the consolation bracket (3rd place over all) of the tournament. Morgan came out flat against the very aggressive Wildcats before settling down to lead 9-4 at the end of the first quarter. At half time they had increased their lead to 18-4 after stepping up their defense. The Cougars mixed up their defenses in the second half in which every Cougar saw action. Morgan won 39-6. The varsity team was led in scoring by Lara Hembree with 16 points. The players were supported by a large number of fans and by the Middle School cheerleading squad directed by Mrs. Kristi Gamble and Mrs. Leigh Ann McKenzie. A big "thank you" to the fans and to the cheerleaders. The players were very happy to have the squad there rooting them on.

The Broken Chain

We little knew that morning that
God was going to call your name.
In life we loved you dearly,
in death we do the same.
It broke our hearts to lose you,
you did not go alone;
for part of us went with you,
the day God called you home.
You left us peaceful memories,
your love is still our guide;
and though we cannot see you,
you are always at our side.
Our family chain is broken,
and nothing seems the same;
but as God calls us one by one,
the Chain will link again.

Greg, its been 12 years but our pain is just as great as the day you left us, but "Thank God" your pain is gone. One day our chain will link again.

Love,
Mom and Dad,
Jon and family

Murder charges have been filed against a West Liberty man as a result of a collision that claimed the lives of an Ezel couple on August 26.

Charles L. Bell, 25, of Bishop Benton Road, driver of one of the vehicles, was arraigned Sept. 6 in Morgan District Court on two separate murder charges and one charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol/drugs.

Robert Morris, 68, and his wife, Gleedie Fay Morris, 58, were killed when Bell's SUV veered across the center line into the path of their Dodge Stratus on U.S. 460 near Greear on the evening of Aug. 26.

Bell was scheduled to appear at a preliminary district court hearing on Tuesday of this week to answer the charges.

Mayor Blocks...

At the special meeting Monday, Mayor Nickell told council members he believed $130,000 was too much money to spend for the equipment truck, stating his belief that it would be better to use the money to replace the wrecked firetruck. Nickell said a used vehicle to replace the equipment truck could be purchased for around $60,000, and argued that money in the fire department fund should be conserved to buy a new fire truck and to help with construction of a fire station for the city large enough to house all of the fire department's trucks and equipment at one location under one roof. At present, because of lack of space, the department's fire trucks are kept at three locations—one in the basement of the City Building on Main Street, another at the former water department building on Riverside Drive, and another in a small building on Wells Hill.

"Why are we laying out this much money to replace an equipment truck that can't pump water when we need a pumper truck (to replace the one that was wrecked)?" Nickell asked. He also expressed his concern that a delay in replacing the wrecked pumper could possibly result in an increase in fire insurance premiums for city residents.

Arguing to proceed with the bid opening for the new equipment truck were council members Mark Walter, Belinda Jordan, and Vickie Henley.

Fire Chief David Jones and Assistant Chief Jason James also said they favored proceeding with the bid process, stating that the equipment truck currently in use is too small to carry all of the department's turnout gear.

Asked his opinion on the matter, EKCC Warden John Motley, a former long-time member of the fire department, commented, "I never did put a fire out with an equipment truck." But he said if the council has the money, both would be nice.

Councilman Walter said the city has "all kinds of money," noting that the fire department fund currently has $250,000 from fire taxes, and said he felt long-term financing could be arranged that would allow both the purchase of the new equipment truck the fire department wants and a good used pumper truck to replace the one that was wrecked and still leave sufficient funds on hand to purchase a new firetruck later — as required to maintain reasonable fire insurance premiums for residents.

When asked by Walter to give his recommendation on the matter, Fire Chief Jones urged the council "go ahead and get a new equipment truck and then buy a used pumper."

Council members voting to proceed with the bid opening were Walter, Jordan, and Henley. Voting no were John May and Jeff Bailey. Council member Doren Bradley did not attend the meeting.

Mayor Nickell's order to cancel Tuesday's bid opening follows:

September 13, 2005

The bid opening scheduled for September 13, 2005, at the hour of 6:00 p.m. at West Liberty City Hall is hereby cancelled under the terms of KRS 45~390. It is the finding of this Mayor that it is in the best interest of the West Liberty Fire Department and the City of West Liberty and its Citizens that the bid process be cancelled.

On September 10, 2005, during a hose testing process, a member ofthe West Liberty Voluntary Fire Department wrecked and totaled pumper truck #201, a 1961 International. This truck was retained in the fleet as an active back up for purposes of responding to fire calls. The loss of this vehicle creates a new budget concern for this department.

Truck #202, a 1971 International, remains in the fleet along with the Primary Truck, #204, which is a 1993 Pierce. The equipment truck #203 is a 1982 GMC Sierra. The City has in its budget approximately $250,000. During the fire of Morgan Inn Restaurant and Motel in the City, truck #204, our primary truck, failed to pump. We were left to rely on Truck #202, a 1971 International. The City needs to upgrade the pumper truck and modify it for the equipment needed to meet the ISO standards.

The equipment truck being bid is an elaborate vehicle which exceeds the needs of our fire department. The equipment truck specifications for the bid at issue states that the "The cab-chassis and the modular body shall have suitable provisions to carry our medical andd rescue equipment at the scene." The City does not do "medical and rescue" this is carried out by the Morgan County Ambulance Service and the Morgan County Rescue Squad. If the City tries to enter into medical and rescue operations it is increasing its burden and liability in a situation wherein the County Government is more likely covered by Sovereign immunity than the City. The Fire Department needs to focus on its firefighting responsibilities and obligations to the Citizens of West Liberty and equip itself appropriately given the budget constraints.

The City is in need of a Fire House. This administration has devoted time and effiort to accomplish just this. One of the chief elements of support for the bid of these specifications involves the limited space to house an equipment truck of normal proportion. If we had the appropriate facility to house the needed equipment then the extra expense of a modified vehicle in size and proportion would not be necessary.

The funds in the Fire Department Account took a period of approximately 15 years to build. With these funds we have the potential to develop the needed facility and equipment to protect the City of West Liberty. If we deplete these funds now on the purchase of an equipment truck, which is well beyond the needs of the city and the City's liability potential, and the purchase of a "used pumper truck", then it will leave the City in a position of waiting another decade to two decades before the necessary facility can be built in order to house the necessary equipment to protect our citizens.

This administration does not approve of the purchase of the equipment truck set out in the bid specifications and given the occurrence of the loss of the pumper truck over the weekend finds it necessary to cancel the bid opening this evening and the purchase of this truck.

This Cancellation is done in compliance with KRS 45A.390 and KRS 45A.355.

Robert W. Nickell, Mayor
City of West Liberty

Maintaining a low cholesterol level

More than one hundred million American adults have above normal levels of cholesterol. Of that number, 37.7 million have an especially high level of cholesterol, which puts them at greater risk for developing coronary heart disease.

Cholesterol is a waxy, fat-like substance produced in the liver. It is found in most foods produced from animals such as meat, eggs and dairy products. The body cannot function properly without having some amount of cholesterol available, but when the body has too much cholesterol, the excess substance is deposited in the arteries. After time, the deposited cholesterol develops into a hard plaque that builds up in the arteries and restricts blood flow to the heart. The hardening of the arteries greatly increases the risk for coronary heart disease.

Coronary heart disease has become a major concern and is the single leading cause of death in America today. This year, 700,000 Americans are estimated to have a coronary attack for the first time. Studies have shown that people can reduce the risk of developing heart disease by maintaining a low level of cholesterol. Also, studies have shown that people already diagnosed with heart disease who lower their cholesterol level can reduce the chance of dying from heart disease or having costly procedures such as heart bypass surgery or angioplasty.

Several factors affect cholesterol levels, including:

Diet (saturated fat and cholesterol in food increases your cholesterol levels);

Weight (being overweight increases cholesterol and risk for heart disease);

Exercise (regular exercise helps reduce cholesterol levels);

Age and gender (cholesterol rises with age, and men are at greater risk);

Heredity (genes are partly related to cholesterol production), and;

Other causes such as medications or medical conditions.

To lower cholesterol and reduce the risk of heart disease, preventative measures should be taken. Eating low cholesterol foods is a major way to maintain a healthy cholesterol level. The American Heart Association recommends a daily intake of less than 300 milligrams of cholesterol. It is recommended you consume less than 200 milligrams daily if you are already diagnosed with heart disease. Exercise is very effective when combined with a steady diet because it reduces many of the risk factors associated with heart disease. Finally, medication prescribed by a doctor can help people who need more than just dieting and exercise to lower their cholesterol.

Not smoking is another way to effectively reduce the risk if heart disease. Over time, smoking lowers the high-density lipoprotein ("good") cholesterol levels. By not smoking, this trend can be reversed. Not smoking also improves the ability to exercise.

Adults should have their cholesterol level checked at least every five years. The test for determining your cholesterol level is a blood test called a lipoprotein profile. The test determines a measurement of cholesterol in milligrams per deciliter (mg/dL). Physicians recommend a person's cholesterol level stay below 200 mg/dL. Anything between 200 and 239 is considered borderline high. If cholesterol exceeds 240, this is an extremely high cholesterol level and immediate measures should be taken to reduce this number. Contact your physician if you have further questions about cholesterol and your health.

Walker Bros. Circus coming to Campton Thursday, Sept. 15

If you want your children to see the only form of entertainment that has never been censored, take them to the Walker Brothers Circus in Campton on Thursday, Sept. 15. The circus will be located in the field beside the Senior Citizens Center, in Campton. Show times will be 5:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. The event is being sponsored by the Wolfe County Volunteer Fire Department.

The circus is presented under a beautiful candy striped red and yellow Big Top, with happy animals, clowns, pretty girls, aerialists, jugglers, illusionists and much more. The sun on the tent, the trampled grass, mixed with the aroma of popcorn and roasting peanuts, stimulate all the senses with memories that will last a lifetime.

This is an old time family circus. There are not tens of thousands of seats, like in the huge impersonal sports arenas, where you have to pay to park and walk long distances to see the circus. Walker Brothers is pure circus, so close to your seat that you can actually reach out and touch the excitement. The big top circus of America's past is recreated right before your very eyes when Walker Brothers Circus comes to Campton.

For ticket information call (606) 668-7030, or (606) 668-6825. Free tickets are available for all children ages 14 and under.

'Half-pricing' of gasoline is against the law

The Kentucky Department of Agriculture has advised Kentucky retailers that charging any price for motor fuel other than the price shown on the pump is prohibited by state and federal law.

The Department issued a memorandum to retail motor fuel establishments in response to inquiries.

The memorandum states that devices that will not compute with a total unit price above $2.999 per gallon must be modified to compute the higher per-unit pricing before they are placed into service. Devices that are found in violation will be taken out of service until they have been modified, the memorandum says.

As fuel prices have escaiated in recent days. The Department has accelerated its inspections of motor fuel pumps for accuracy of delivery and pricing, said Tom Bloemer, administrative manager of the KDA's Weights and Measures Branch. Bloemer said Department inspectors are watching for indications of price gouging and are reporting possible cases to the Kentucky Attorney General's Office.

Citizens who wish to make a complaint of price gouging may contact the Attorney General's Office by e-mail at gaspricecomplaints@ag,ky.gov.

Our Changing Lives

The changing of the seasons reminds us of the changes that constantly occur in our own lives. Each new season reminds us that we can't hold onto time...we must give up one season and move on to the next. Fall arrives and vacations are over. School begins and reminds us that we are another year older. How do we let go of one season and successfully move on to the next?

Church worship and fellowship can help us experience and accept the change of "seasons" in our lives. We can share the joys and sorrows of life with others on the same journey: birth, youth, marriage, parenting, grand parenting, and growing old. With help, we can embrace each phase of our life and prepare for the next. The church can give us the support we need to weather each "season" with confidence and hope.

"... be prepared in season and out of season; correct, rebuke and encourage - with great patience and careful instruction." (2 Timothy 4:2) God's wisdom can guide us through the "seasons" and help us be prepared. Worship at His house this week and share your journey with others.

Happy Grandparents Day!

Taxpayers Foot The Bill; What Else Is New?

By Todd Duvall

FRANKFORT — A lot of Kentuckians were relieved last week when they learned that at least one cost of living in their budgets won't be going up next year — their health insurance coverage.

Gov. Ernie Fletcher announced that the health insurance for 228,000 state government employees, teaches. school personnel and retirees will stay essentially the same as their current coverage at no additional cost.

Well, thats not entirely true.

The taxpayers of Kentucky will pay for the higher cost of maintaining the current level of insurance coverage — $132 million.

Where that money will come from is anyone's guess.

Promptly, of course, representatives of state employee organizations and the Kentucky Education Association were saying how pleased they were that Fletcher had seen the error of his 2004 ways.

It was about this time last year that Fletcher announced a new health insurance plan for public employees that provided substantially less coverage for substantially more money that the employees themselves were expected to pay.

That set off a firestorm of protest that culminated in a promise of a statewide teacher strike in November.

Fletcher bowed to the critics, called a special legislative session and told lawmakers to deal with the issue.

They did by simply extending for another year the old coverage and paying the higher premium cost out of scarce state revenues. They also ordered a special panel to study the problem of health insurance costs — the classic way of delaying having to actually deal with the problem — and everyone was happy.

The key recommendation of the study panel is that the state adopt a self-insurance type of plan, in which government itself assumes the responsibility of paying the bills for its employees' health care claims. That cuts out profits that private health insurers automatically build into their rates, and it permits saving through negotiated deals with large drug manufacturers. Special "wellness" initiatives can save money over time as employees file fewer claims.

That, at least, is the concept, although I have never seen government at any level do something — anything — at less cost than the private sector could do it. It just doesn't happen.

And clearly, self-insurance isn't showing any kind of big savings, at least not over the 2006 year of coverage.

The cost of the same amount of health care coverage for those 228,000 people this year is $648 million. This same coverage in 2006 under the self-insurance concept rises to $780 million.

At the current annual growth rate of about 20 percent, the taxpayers of Kentucky very soon will be spending $1 billion on health care for state employees, teachers, other school personnel, their families and retirees.

The logical question must be how long the taxpayers can afford another $125 million or so every year, year after year to provide excellent health insurance for public employees.

That is especially true when you consider that hundreds of thousands of those same taxpayers cannot afford insurance for themselves or their families and neither can their employers.

Certainly, no one can blame public employees for seeking the best insurance deal they can get from the state's political leadership. But at some point those employees must recognize that there is a limit and it is approaching rapidly for how much of limited state revenues can be devoted to paying the cost of their health insurance.

The political leadership, however, looks only to the next election, which happens to be in 2006. Fletcher himself said "you just don't touch a hot stove twice," in referring to his attempt last year to hold down insurance costs.

The truth is that Fletcher may be in the best position to speak plainly to state employees and teachers. They're not going to vote for him again anyway — only 17 percent of Kentuckians polled recently say they will — and what better messenger to bring bad news than a lame duck governor?

Fletcher's not going to do that. Nor will the legislative leadership, Republican or Democratic. Elections have been decided by far fewer than 228,000 votes.

At this rate, it won't be long before the taxpayers are spending nearly as much on health care of 228,000 employees as they spend educating all the children in Kentucky schools.

March 30, 1939—Out With the Rubbish: Into the rubbish heap at the first opportunity should go newspaper clippings saved long ago for a forgotten purpose, magazines, even dog-eared books and letters, suggest experts in home management at Kentucky College of Agriculture. Houses and also people's minds can be cluttered by rubbish preserved sentimentally or carelessly from year to year. Everyone intends to use these things but few ever do. The Southern Public Service Company which operated the West Liberty light and ice making facilities was in the process of selling to the Kentucky and West Virginia Light and Power Company with offices in Pikeville. West Liberty would then have the same rate as larger cities served by the latter company, meaning rates will be lowered by half. The new power company was not interested in continuing the ice plant.

"The whole town regrets to lose the Coles, but since they are both in poor health and must retire, West Liberty is very fortunate to have such a fine young couple to take over".

WHAT'S IN A NAME

From the time we're born until our heart pumps the last beat and our blood stops flowing through our body, we are sentenced to a life of our choosing.

Nobody makes us be who we are. That's entirely up to us. Our name was given to us by our parents and grandparents, handed down through a blood line centuries and centuries old.

What is a name? We all have one. It's certainly more than a collection of letters that become our identity. To a certain extent at least, until we are old enough to think and reason for ourselves, we are living in our parents' name and are usually given the benefit of the doubt — positive or negative. For example: "Don't be so hard on him, he comes from a good family," or "That boy is just like the rest of that good for nothing family."

Fortunately, we have the choice to better ourselves by going to church and to school and getting an education, or for those not so fortunate for whatever reason, working hard all our lives and day by day trying to be a better person.

Unfortunately, sometimes the road we take turns out to be the wrong one and that tarnishes our good name. Our name follows us everywhere and there's no escaping it. The Good, the Bad, and the Ugly. We've all got those three adjectives attached to our name somewhere.

We must live out our dreams, exercising our imagination, but realizing that there is a thin line between bravery and stupidity and know the difference. We must be objective in our decisions because our name is riding on it. And we must remember there's a difference between bending the law and breaking it, because if you break it and get caught, you will answer to a judge. But if you bend the law, you will be on the run all your life; figuratively speaking, you'll have ghosts in your closet and bones in your basement and a shadow that keeps following you. And late at night you'll try to hide but your demons will find you in your nightmares.

Unfortunately, gossip and rumors seep into the mix and can attach themselves to our names unfairly. I'm reminded of the teacher's experiment we all participated in when we were in school, where the teacher whispers something to one student and he or she tells a classmate, and it's whispered to everyone in the room, but when it gets back to the teacher, it's entirely and totally different than the story that was first told.

Even though we know the truth about ourselves, and we all know who we are, when we learn of rumors being told about us, it ruffles the feathers.

The other day, a person came up to me and the Ghost of Winding Stair and asked if we'd heard the stories that have been circulating around about all the people "in high places" in our county. I just laughed. But Ghost said he "knowed" all the people he was referrin' to and said, "I don't know who's startin' all these rumors, but whoever it is, they oughter get a job writin' science fiction, cause they've got one hell of an imagination."

You know, we're all "only human" and when we see people who are wealthy or who have arisen to leadership roles in the community, we sometimes wonder what they're doing illegal. But the truth of the matter is, 90 percent of these people have taken chances, put their life's earnings and all they have on the line to get where they are. And maybe, just maybe, they still owe a lot of money. It's safe and easy to set on the bank and not take any risks, but sometimes, if we really want to get where we need to be in life, it's necessary to screw up our courage, take the risk, and get into the water — sink or swim. Many of our neighbors have taken that plunge, with only their God-given abilities and the faith in themselves that they had what it takes to achieve success.

We should have faith in our neighbors and lift them up, not tear them down.

What adjective is attached to your name? Hard worker, low life, God fearing, common, honorable, honest, degenerate, shady, sly, degenerate, perfectionist, vulgar, vigilant, respectful, optimistic, pessimistic, gossiping, family man, loose woman, good mother, good father, good husband, good wife, community-minded, generous, just to name a few.

You know, we all want "good" to follow our name, but probably sometime in our life, in some shape, form or fashion, almost every adjective that I mentioned and more that I didn't will probably fit in our name.

What I'm trying to say is, when we talk about our neighbor, maybe we should review the adjectives that, in our own heart we know could be attached to our name before we so thoughtlessly (or maliciously) smear the ink on the signature of our neighbor's biography.

To the Editor:

In regard to a front page article in the LVC Sept. 6, "Student drug testing to start at high school," I, as a parent, don't have a problem with this. If we're going to do this, and apparently we are, then we need to test the instructors also. Shouldn't they be held to the same or higher standard. According to local newspaper articles over the last few months, this problem is deeper than just the students. The parents may be more at ease with this if the instructors are tested also.

Twenty-Six

By Sherry Bailey

Sept. 15 — While going through a spiral notebook in my mother, Deloris Smith's stationery box, I ran across the following list of names of people who lived in Ezel while Mother attended Ezel High School. Here's what she wrote:

People living in Ezel when I went to school in 1942-1946:

Roy and Minnie Elam Rowland, Roy and Minnie Anderson Murphy, Homer and Savannah Crase Patrick, Boyd and Lillian Dennis Anderson, Courtney and Vivian Rowland Centers, Edna Ward Patrick, John and Ada Henry Rose, Harold and Dorthy Little Rose, Raymond and Ora Lawson Blevins, Charles and Irene Reid, Elie and Flora Osborne McGuire, Dillard and Bessie Anderson Murphy, Sam and Ellen Howard Williams, Rollie and June Hatton Wilson, Hollie and Margarette Vest Pieratt, Fred and Catherine Nickell Mays, John and Callie Caldwell Mays, John and Vergie Wells Davis, Martha Dennis Motley, Revis and Flora Davis Carr, Glenn and Catherine Nickell Carr, William and Sara Dinsmore Heagen, Jake and Faye Kash Wells, Marvin and Gladys Henry Carr, Tommy and Daisy Murphy Dorsey, Boyd Herbert and Devona Wittenhagen Murphy, Dock and Irene Oldfield Murphy, Hiram and Susie Greear Patrick, Dudley and Jane Patrick Anderson, Erbb and Rosie Murphy Carr, Jim and Eva Cox Roberson, Alec Maxey and family, Mitchell and Ada Havens Evans, Ben and Goldie Murphy Davis, Claude and Lilly Roberson Montgomery, Bill and Nettie Kemplin Helton, Charlie and Mabel Murphy Ward, Wes and Emma Ward Bolin, Walter and Maggie Nickell, Mort and Eliza Murphy Music, Anna Blankenship, Sam and Beulah Murphy Amyx, Stanley and Ruth Fraley Ferguson, Nathan and Bessie Salyer, Les Brown and family

I am amazed at the types of things she wrote in her notebook. The biscuit board that she left [in her will] to my daughter, Andrea Maynard, was mentioned. She wrote, "Biscuit board was made around 1900 by Robert L. Motley for my grandmother Josie (Alwilda Jospehine) Peyton Vest Mays. Robert L. Motley was born in 1871 and died in 1940."

Now, for the Twenty-Six news:

Ross Bradley of New Castle, England, is visiting Leanne Williams of 172. They visited Leanne's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Wes Tobias, and their daughters, Madison and Terra, several times recently. Terra, age 12, received her purple belt in Karate. Congratulations , Terra!

Janie Bowman attended a house warming shower for her son, Ryan, and his wife, Amy. Ryan is scheduled to come home from Iraq in January 2006.

Happy birthday to Lorene Perry, who will be celebrating her birthday this Saturday, September 17.

Sammy Lagana, of Florence, Kentucky, was a weekend visitor of his wife's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sandford.

GOD ALWAYS WATCHES OVER YOU

There's never a moment when God doesn't care, never a worry that He doesn't share, never a time when His love isn't there to cheer and to brighten our way, so trust in His love, so unfailing and true, believe in His power to strengthen you, too. And may your faith bring many blessings to you day after beautiful day. (Submitted by Alpha Clevenger)

Elliott County schools to begin drug testing

Board approves testing policy for students and all school employees

The Elliott County Board of Education, "in an effort to provide a safe and healthy learning and working environment for all students, employees, parents, and community members," has developed a Drug-Free/Alcohol Free Schools Policy.

The action resulted from a consideration of data, including a survey completed by all Elliott County school personnel on the opening day of the 2005-06 school year. The results of the survey showed overwhelming support from teachers, cooks, bus drivers, teachers' aides, and central office staff for a drug testing policy, said Elliott County Superintendent of Schools John Claude Williams.

In response, the board has designed a policy to assure that every individual has the opportunity to work or learn in an alcohol- and drug-free environment, Williams said.

"The board's position is that the use of alcohol and other illegal drugs and the misuse of prescription drugs by any individual are absolutely unacceptable within our school system's learning environment," Williams said. "The board is enacting policy that will assure its commitment to excellence in all facets of our educational programming can be maintained at all times."

Further, he said, the board's message of an alcohol- and drug-free environment "will be communicated often and with consistency to students, employees, parents, and the community."

The first reading of the new drug policy was given at the board's meeting on September 9 and unanimously approved.

"This policy will apply to both certified and classified staff, as well as students," Williams said. The new policy will be given its second reading at the next board meeting on Friday, Oct. 14.

Wolfe Co. business receives Rural Innovation funding

The Morehead State University Innovation Center announced this week that a Wolfe County business, the Nutrition Farm, will receive approximately $25,000 to advance their business. The Nutrition Farm is one of a handful of Eastern Kentucky companies that received the funds this cycle. They were approved following a very competitive application process.

The goal of the Rural Innovation Fund, or RIF, is to assist rural companies with the commercialization of a product or process with the ultimate goal of developing new or value-added companies, jobs, technology, products, processes, or services. All funds must be spent with third-party consultant and no funds can be used for salaries, overhead, past debt, or employees of the company. Companies may seek up a maximum funding of up to $25,000 in a one year period and are only eligible for this funding once. Companies are generally in the development, proof of concept, and prototype stages of their life cycle.

The Nutrition Farm is a highly technical, scientific-manufacturing company located off Clifty School road near the Menifee County line, within Wolfe County. The Nutrition Farm makes a variety of products including colloidal silver products, Australian dream (sold and marketed by Nature's Health Connection, also in Wolfe County), and a nutritional fortified water. The Nutrition Farm currently makes appoximately 65 products, most of which are retailed by another company.

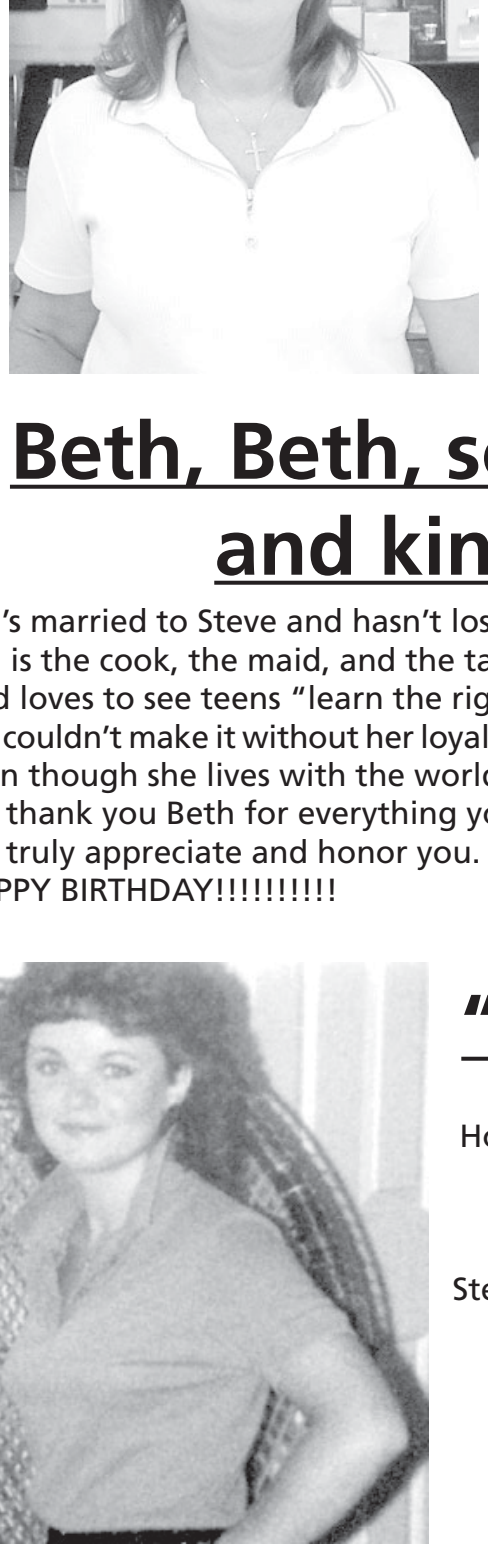
The Nutritional Farm is owned and operated by a pair of seasoned chemists and contains a state-of-the-art, multi-million dollar lab facility. The presence of such a lab allows the company to easily conduct on-site research. This can be very important to outside vendors who have an idea and marketing ability for a product but need chemists and a facility to design and make it. Their web site can be found at www.nutritionfarm.com.

Johnathan Gay, Director of the MSU Innovation Center, said the decision to fund the Nutrition Farm represents a significant vote of confidence in the company by the Kentucky Innovation Group, which administers the fund. Gay said: "Dozens and dozens of companies apply for this fund every cycle. Only 19 were selected throughout the commonwealth. This means the process is very competitive and the Innovation group doesn't invest in products unless they think they're winners. This business has the potential to really put Wolfe County on the map. Their application was carefully evaluated and they were given a green light. I hope they can use these funds to take their business to the next level and begin hiring more Wolfe County residents and I hope locals can take the time to learn about the hidden treasure located in their midst."

The Nutrition Farm will use these funds to complete their FDA regulatory procedures and for marketing assistance that will allow them to retail a select line of their products. Although there are no requirements on where the company's consultants must be located, nearly half of the Nutrition Farm's funds will be used to hire local consultants, thereby keeping the money close to home and helping Kentucky's economy in the short run. "This is really a win-win for the company, for the consultants, and for Kentucky," said Gay.

Applications for the next round of RIF funding are due September 30. To apply for the Rural Innovation Fund contact Johnathan Gay or Porter Dailey at the Morgan County Regional Technology Center at (606) 743-4005.

Happy Birthday



Sally, Sally, OH MY!

What shall we say and yet remain quiet?
You are so cheerful, bubbly, which words can't describe
In essence, the character you display is one of a kind.
Your attitude is contagious, your spirit we admire,
And you are the only person who could sell a flat tire!
When you take your trips, no one understands,
You are "RESTING" your brain in a far away land.
So when you return, you shine with renewal,
Ready to work like a borrowed mule,
Thank you for your dedication, hard work and college education.
You shore are smart. We wish you a happy birthday and lots of gifts from Wal-Mart!!!!

Beth, Beth, so sweet and kind!

She's married to Steve and hasn't lost her mind.
She is the cook, the maid, and the taxi driver too;
And loves to see teens "learn the right thing to do."
We couldn't make it without her loyality and great work ethic,
Even though she lives with the worlds biggest "Smart Elic!"
We thank you Beth for everything you do.
We truly appreciate and honor you.
HAPPY BIRTHDAY!!!!!!!!!!

"Secret Birthday Bomb"

She isn't what she used to be and everyday we see,
How silly and how truly goofy that this lil' munchkin turned out to be.
She is known to be included with the words,
"Steve and what?"
Steve told us that she has grown to be a real pain in his butt.

She is known at Peyton's for being a friendly soul,
She tries so hard to get to work on time, which is her common goal.
Blonde jokes, bad jokes, everywhere between,
You can bet Mona is the "I don't get it" queen.

She dreaded this time ever since Dave's big 60,
I recall her saying "I dread my birthday they'll get me back I know."
This poem (you would think), would be written by a close friend,
Well to me, Mona, is someone to whom my arm I would lend.

She loves her job and we do truly love her,
So to you Mona please don kill your daughter.
Yep it's true Mona Jr. here writing about her lovely mom,
And when it comes time for my judgment,
It will be Peyton's I blame for planting this "Secret Birthday Bomb"

So all of us from Peyton's we love you so, so much
However Steve remains questionable for this answer he wouldn't touch.
Have a very happy birthday and always remain yourself,
For in life that is all that you need to be and all of the rest you can leave on the shelf.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY FROM ALL OF US AT "PEYTON'S PLACE!"

JOHN SWIFT'S SILVER

Fact or Fiction

By J B Stamper

This story was told to me by my father who was working in the oil fields for the Petroleum Exploration Co. in the Peach Tree Hollow area in the 1930s.

Living there at the mouth of Peach Tree Creek was an old man named Peter Johnson (maybe) who told a story about Indians in the area about the time or just before the start of the Civil War.

"Mr. Johnson said, "One fall day and late in the evening when the shadows were long in the hollow, I was just a small boy then, maybe eight or nine, but I remember it well, because my mother called to us (the children) to come to the house as horsemen was coming. Father was away from home, maybe to Irvine on land business, and she was fearful of strangers as there had been trouble in the area over land boundaries.

"As we stood near Mother, eight Indians leading two pack mules each came into sight and caused great fear in us all. They did not threaten us in any way but continued on up the hollow from our house. They were a fearful looking bunch, with all kinds of dress, and carrying guns, long guns, across their laps in front of them as if they would use them if needed.

"We huddled in our house that night, knowing the Indians were in Peach Tree Hollow, for there was no other place to go up there. And being fearful of that bunch of Indians, all day the next day we stayed in the yard and watched for Father and the Indians, but no sign of either one all day and another wakeful night was spent indoors.

"After about the third day, we became a little easier in our minds that the Indians meant us no harm and Father could be home any time to help in case of trouble. We knew the Indians were still in Peach Tree Hollow. At night there was talk of maybe they had killed Father, and sometimes fear almost shook our bones.

"On the fourth of fifth day we boys decided to spy on the Indians and see what they were up to, and if they meant us any harm before they left. We wondered if they were going to claim our land, as mother had decided they were Cherokee, and we had been told the Cherokee once owned this land.

"As we tried to do our spying on the Indians, one or more always found us out. Long before we got very far up the hollow, they would step out of the trees with their guns in their hands and just stand there looking at us without saying a word. Being fearful of what they might do, we always returned home quickly. After several spying ventures on the Indians and always being found out and confronted by one or more of the fearsome devils we decided they were better at spying than we were and whatever they were up to was none of our business and we had better leave them alone. Besides we couldn't find out anything anyway.

"We still thought something bad had happened to Father but had decided the Indians hadn't done him in or they would have done us in by this time, and they hadn't threatened us any.

"On about the ninth or tenth day, early in the morning while the fog was still near the ground, we heard horses coming down the hollow and Mother and we stood in the doorway and on the stoop and watched them Indians coming by our house.

"They were still a fearsome looking bunch to me. They still carried them guns, long guns across in front of them. Each Indian led two pack mules and each mule had a full load looked like, with two sacks tied across the pack saddle, not big sacks but you could tell they were heavy by the way they hung on the saddle.

"Being sure all the Indians were gone, we ventured up Peach Tree Hollow to see what in the heck the Indians were up to, but we didn't find anything, although we looked hard.

"Father returned home after a few days and said he had to go on to Richmond in search of titles. When we told him of the fearsome Indians, he went with us up the hollow in search of their "diggings" as he said. Search as we may, and we made several trips and looked for ways in which they may have walked out of Peach Tree Hollow and done their "digging" somewhere else, we found no path or trail of any kind. In one place, part way up the hill toward the cliffs, there was a large rock, blue in color with some scratch places on one side. Father said it looked to him like the rock had been moved and then replaced back again. But look as hard as we could, we couldn't see any way to move that rock, and if the Indians did, how did they do it?

"We always planned to one day find a way to move that rock or dig under it, for we were sure the Indians dug something up in Peach Tree Hollow. I am an old man and I know what I saw, I saw them Indians leave Peach Tree Hollow with sacks of something loaded on pack mules. I don't know where they came from, but in later years someone said they were from Oklahoma and had been seen near the bluffs at the river west of here.

"I'm telling you boys this because you're young, and can search up that hollow, and maybe find what the Indians found. They must have already known where they were going when they came here."

Notice to residents: Mail will be delayed to pre-911 addresses

Morgan County residents who have not notified the Postal Service and other correspondents of their 911 mailing addresses should do so immediately, according to West Liberty Postmaster Eddie Lagrone and 911 Director John Conley.

The West Liberty Post Office has delivered mail addressed with old rural route and box number style addresses since the late 1990s when the new 911 addresses were assigned to county residents, said Negron, to allow patrons time to inform correspondents of their new addresses.

"The bearing old addresses (those before the 911 change) will now go through our forwarding system and will require several days for processing before it is returned for delivery," Negron said. He urged postal patrons who have neglected to notify their correspondants, including banks, utilities, and other companies of their 911 addresses at once to avoid inconvenient delays in receiving bills, checks, and other vital correspondence.

Spay/Neuter Pgm. goes into effect at local vets July 1st

Beginning July 1, a new spay/neuter program for cats and dogs will go into effect in Kentucky. The program, funded through a special fee collected by county clerks for sale or renewal of the special spay/neuter license plate, permits qualifying individuals to obtain a voucher to have a pet spayed or neutered by their veterinarian for a charge of only $10.00.

To qualify for the program, applicants must have an income low enough to be eligible or be enrolled in one of the following programs: Food Stamps, Temporary Assistance for Needy Families, SSI, SSD, or Medicare/Medicaid.

To receive a voucher, applicants must fill out an application obtainable locally at the West Liberty Veterinary Clinic, Animal Care Clinic, and at the County Judge Executive's Office. Applicants must provide documentation that proves need, such as tax returns, etc.

The $10.00 co-pay charge for having an animal neutered or spayed is pay able to the Spay/Neuter Program.

Both the West Liberty Veterinary Clinic and animal Care Clinic will honor the vouchers.

Zeke Hall (No. 4) sprints for yardage in the Cougars' 21-12 loss to Mason County.

Cougars suffer first loss, 21-12, at Mason County

Crawford's TD in 3rd quarter boosts Royals to 3rd straight victory

By David Patrick

Mason County's Chase Crawford scored the key touchdown of the game—a 1 yard scoring plunge on the final play of the third quarter—as the Royals survived a scare last Friday from visiting Morgan County, 21-12.

It was the Cougars who scored the game's first points. After both teams failed to capitalize on their initial possessions, Morgan made good on its second drive. An Alex Collins 10 yard completion to Wes Montgomery was followed by a first down carry by Derrick Young. After Alex Collins collected a first down carry of his own, Collins pulled off a one-yard quarterback sneak on fourth and goal. Despite a failed extra point attempt, Randy Wood's team held a 6-0 lead with 8:35 remaining in the first quarter.

Just over four minutes later, Mason quickly turned an interception by junior linebacker Stephen Howell into points. Quarterback Ty Sargent hooked up with Tony Browning for a 21-yard scoring pass. A successful point after gave the Royals a 7- 6 advantage—a lead they would take to the half.

Mason played add-on less than three minutes into the third quarter on an 11 yard touchdown run by Ty Sargent. But the Cougars answered with a score of their own. Wes Montgomery found room around the left end, sprinting 21 yards for the TD at the 4:19 mark of the third quarter. However, a failed two point conversion kept Morgan in a 14-12 hole.

The Cougars' attempt to keep the deficit at two heading into the final quarter quickly fell by the way side. The aforementioned Crawford score as time expired in the third quarter proved to be more than Morgan could overcome. The junior tailback totaled only nine rushing yards on three carries, but that run proved to be the most crucial of the game.

The Mason defense proceeded to hold firm in the final twelve minute as the Cougars never seriously threatened en route to suffering their first loss of the 2005 season.

Morgan County's offense was led by Derrick Young, who picked up 68 yards on 17 carries. Brandon Allen carried 10 times for 42 yards, while Zeke Hall added 34 yards. Wes Montgomery and Alex Collins gained a combined 115 all-purpose yards, including Morgan's two TD's.

The Royals were led by Korey Henry, who tallied 58 yards on eight carries.

Next up for the Cougars is a Friday night match up with West Carter. The Comets are 3-1, including a miraculous 46-44 victory over Rowan County last week in which Kevin Brown's team converted a Viking turnover in the final seconds of regulation into a game- winning touchdown.

The Cougars and West Carter will kick off at 7:30 in Olive Hill.

THE OLD CENTER FIELDER

Harold Hammond
(1929-2005)

Harold and I started playing baseball in high school in 1944. He was a sophomore and I a junior. That summer we played on the town team, which was in the old American Legion League. During WW II most all the local baseball players were in the service so it was necessary to dip into the high school players to field a town team. We covered the outfield for many years. He took Jack Cochran's place in center field when Jack entered the service. I was playing left field. We enjoyed playing in those days—in fact, once we rode in the back of a pick-up truck to Maysville to play. How many kids would do that today?

Some may think playing outfield is very boring and that all you do is go out in the outfield and wait for a fly ball to come your way. Harold and I would constantly talk to each other about the hitters. "Is this the number seven hitter or eighth hitter?" "Better back up — this fellow hit some long balls in batting practice." "The last time this hitter batted he swung late and hit to right field — we better shift a little to the right." "This is a weak hitter, he's batting 9th, come in"and soforth.

Harold had a great arm. He could throw from center field about 20 feet high to the cut off man. His arm was much better than mine. When a ball was hit between us, I would retrieve it, throw to Harold, who could hit the infielder or cut-off man. He never had a sore arm. I can remember the first day of practice each spring, how hard it was to keep from throwing hard. After the first practice most of us had a sore arm for a couple of weeks. Harold would come out throwing hard and never stop!

Analogy

If there are heavenly baseball teams and a team is in need of a center fielder, one just arrived! I can imagine Harold stepping on a Heavenly diamond with a new body of an eighteen-year-old and telling one of the coaches he played center field. The Coach tells him to take the field to see what he can do — hitting him some flys to the right and to the left, which Harold fields easily. Now for the test of a real outfielder, catching a ball hit straight at him over his head. Harold turns and runs at the "crack of the bat," reaches up and makes the catch! What about his arm? —It didn't take but a couple of throws from center field to second and third to convince the Coach he has what it takes.

There may be or may not be baseball fields or baseball teams in Heaven — I don't know. Harold didn't need baseball skills to enter Heaven. He was a fine person, a long time Christian, and active in the Lord's work for years. He was always concerned about others and especially his family. Even when he was deathly sick, he would talk about his family and worry about them. He helped make my baseball career a pleasure and my life more enjoyable knowing him.

I always liked the way Joe Knuxall signed off his Reds broadcast by saying, "This is the ole' left hander rounding third and heading for home!" Well, the ole' center fielder has rounded third and made it Home.

The junior varsity was led in scoring by Faith Slone with 7 and Monika McCowan, who scored 6 points. The varsity was a tie through the first three quarters with neither team coming away with the advantage. In the beginning of the 4th quarter, the Lady Cougars stepped up their defense, causing several turnovers in which they were able to score. The cougars outscored the Hornets by 5 to win the game, 28-23, for their opening win of the season. The varsity was led in scoring by Lara Hembree with 9 and Shey Williams with 7 points.

September 8 at Bath County

The Lady Cougars traveled this past Thursday to Bath County to play the Bath Co. Wildcats. The junior varsity team opened up with a 5-0 lead at the end of the first quarter. In the second quarter the Cougars out-scored the Wildcats 10-4 to take a 15-4 lead at halftime. The second half was even as both teams scored 12 apiece. The junior varsity recorded their first victory of the season with a 27-16 win. The junior varsity was led in scoring with Tessa Henry scoring 13 and Monika McCowan and Faith Slone both adding 6 points apiece.

September 10 Rowan County Tournament

This past Saturday the Lady Cougars traveled to Morehead to play in the Rowan Co. Tournament. There were teams from Lexington Christian, Bracken, Mason, and local area teams participating in the day long tournament.

The junior varsity opened against a very aggressive Bracken Co. team. Both teams opened the first quarter very much on the defensive side feeling the other out. The score was low the first half with both teams having a hard time finding the basket. The score at the end of the first half showed Morgan Co. leading 6-2. The scoring picked up some in the second half, but with Morgan Co. still in control. The Cougars won by the score of 19-14. The Cougars were led by in scoring by Tessa Henry scoring 9 and Monika McCowan scoring 6 points.

The varsity team was placed against Bracken Co. in the 1st round. Morgan came out flat in the first quarter and allowed Bracken Co. to build a 7 point lead. Morgan came out in the second quarter and stepped up their defense and kept the scoring even. The Lady Cougars came out in the third quarter and scored the first 6 points to cut Bracken's lead to 1. Bracken was able to regroup and push their lead to 6 points. In the final quarter, both teams were worn down and the game became a defensive battle. Morgan Co. lost by the score of 33-25 in a hard fought game. Morgan was led in scoring by Shey Williams with 9, Amanda Williams with 8, and Lara Hembree scoring 7 points.

The junior varsity had to turn around and play after the Bracken game. Several of the junior varsity players play on the varsity team, too. Morgan Co. had to take on the host Vikings. The Lady Cougars were tired and outsized from the start of the game. The Vikings jumped to a 15-2 lead befoe the Lady Cougars regained their composure and stepped up their defense and outscoring the Viking 5-0 to pull within 15-7 by halftime. In the second half Morgan played hard, not giving up, but fell by the score of 32-14. Monika McCowan and Faith Slone scored 7 apiece to lead the Cougars.

The varsity team played Magoffin Co. in the consolation bracket. The Cougars had defeated the Hornets on September 1 by the score of 28-23 at Magoffin. This would be the fourth game of the day for some players and three in a row. The Lady Cougars jumped out to a 13-8 lead after the 1st quarter and increased their lead to 23-17. But the third quarter saw the Cougars give up the lead as Magoffin outscored Morgan by 9 to lead by 3 after three quarters. The Lady Cougars responded in the fourth quarter by shutting down Magoffin's main go-to player, L. Howard, while outsc oring the Hornets 8-6 on two key baskets

Annual Family Weekend to be big event for MSU students and parents

MOREHEAD, Ky.—For more than a quarter of a century, Morehead State University has welcomed students' parents, grandparents, sibling and other friends and neighbors for a weekend of events and good times.

This year marks the 26th annual Family Weekend which is scheduled for Friday through Sunday, Sept.23-25, on the campus.

"We would like to invite everyone to take part in our Family Weekerid," said President Wayne D. Andrews. "For more than 25 years, this has been a tradition which allows everyone to see our beautiful campus, get a taste of what college life is all about, and to spend time with their loved ones who are here in school."

A variety of activities are planned for the special weekend, including a golf scramble, dinner with instructors and peers, athletic games and much more. The weekend provides an opportunity for families to visit campus, have fun and share a taste of MSU student life.

The weekend kicks off on Friday evening, Sept. 23, at 5 p.m. as the Eagle Soccer team plays Jacksonville State in an Ohio Valley Conference match-up at Jayne Stadium. This is a free event and will offer a view of first-year head coach Erin Aubry's squad.

From 6:00-7:30 p.m. there will be a dinner for all new students enrolled in MSU 101 and their families in the Adron Doran University Center (ADUC). During the meal, parents will be introduced to their son or daughter's Discovering University Life instructor and classmates.

Following the evening meal, everyone is invited to join the entertainment of the Student Talent Show in Crager Room of ADUC at 8:00 p.m. The duo of Alfred and Seymore will serve as hosts for the show, which is sponsored by the Student Government Association.

There is no admission charge, but donations will be accepted at the door with proceeds benefiting the Student Emergency Loan Fund managed by the MSU Foundation, Inc.

Saturday morning, Sept. 24, will start with the annual Family Weekend golf outing. The event will get underway with a shotgun start at 9:30 a.m. at the SunnyBrook Golf Course, located on U.S.60 East, approximately two miles from the campus.

The nine-hole, best ball tournament, sponsored by the University's Family Association, is open to MSU students, accompanied by parents or family members. Pre-registration is necessary and is limited to the first 72 entrants.

The evening activities will kickoff at 5 p.m. with the pregame tailgate party on the Academic-Athletic Center (AAC) lawn. In case of rain, the picnic meal will be held in the AAC lobby.

Head coach Matt Ballard's football Eagles will square off against Pioneer Football League rival the University of Dayton Flyers at 7:00 p.m. at Jayne Stadium. Students may purchase tickets for their family members in advance in the director of athletics office in the AAC, or in the Student Activities Office, located in 204 ADUC.

For all those who choose to attend Sunday morning worship services, area churches will welcome MSU visitors to their congregations. At 1:00 p.m., MSU's Soccer Eagles will host Samford in an OVC tilt.

One of the best parts of Family Weekend is that family members may spend the night with their son or daughter in their residence hall room. To do so, arrangements must be made through the student's residence hall director.

Various motels, inns and camping facilities are available for those who prefer to stay off-campus.

The University Bookstore will be open special hours to accommodate Family Weekend shoppers. The store will remain open until 6:00 p.m. on Friday, and from noon-6 p.m. on Saturday. During the weekend, students can sign up for a $250 book scholarship for the spring term. The drawing will be held at halftime of the MSU football game.

In addition, various residence halls and other student organizations will be hosting activities for students to enjoy with their families.

Parents of MSU students are automatically members of the Family Association, and during the weekend, they will be given an opportunity to volunteer to serve on the association's advisory committee.

When parents register during Family Weekend, their son or daughter becomes eligible to win one of four $250 scholarships, to be used during the spring 2006 semester. Winners will be announced during the football game on Saturday, and must be present to claim the award.

During the weekend's activities, Lester, the professional fool, will make balloon sculptures and Body Art by Susan will be available without charge during the family picnic and during the football game on Saturday.

The University Bookstore will host a continental breakfast on Saturday morning from 10:00 a.m. until noon. The bookstore will offer extended hours on that day, remaining open from 10:00 a.m.-6:00 p.m.

Additional information about Family Weekend is available by calling Gerome Stephens, student activities coordinator, at (606) 783-2071; or by e-mail at g.stephens@moreheadstate.edu.

GOOD MORNING GOD

You are ushering in another day untouched and freshly new. So here I come to ask you God if you'll renew me to? Forgive the many errors that I made yesterday, and let me try again dear God to walk closer in thy way. But Father, I am well aware I can't make it on my own. So take my hand and hold it tight for I can't walk alone. (Submitted by Alpha Clevenger)

May I always remember to encourage youth, find the time, keep a promise, forego a grudge, forgive an enemy, listen, think first of someone else, laugh a little, gladden the heart of a child, take pleasure in the beauty and wonder of the earth, speak your love, speak it once again. (Submitted by Alpha Clevenger)

State of emergency declared in Ky. as result of hurricane

WASHINGTON, D.C. — President George W. Bush has declared a state of emergency exists in the Commonwealth of Kentucky and ordered Federal aid to supplement Commonwealth and local response efforts to help people evacuated from their homes due to Hurricane Katrina.

Assistance is available to state and eligible local governments for emergency protective measures that are undertaken to save lives and protect public health and safety. Emergency protective measures, including direct federal assistance, will be provided at 100 percent federal funding. This action provides emergency assistance and funds to those areas beginning on August 29, 2005, and continuing. All 120 counties of Kentucky are included in the designation.

Some 3,500 victims of the hurricane have already arrived in Kentucky and Kentucky may request help to reimburse rescue and humanitarian efforts by Kentucy agencies and organizations.

Notice to residents: Mail will be delayed to pre-911 addresses

Morgan County residents who have not notified the Postal Service and other correspondents of their 911 mailing addresses should do so immediately, according to West Liberty Postmaster Eddie Lagrone and 911 Director John Conley.

The West Liberty Post Office has delivered mail addressed with old rural route and box number style addresses since the late 1990s when the new 911 addresses were assigned to county residents, said Negron, to allow patrons time to inform correspondents of their new addresses.

"The bearing old addresses (those before the 911 change) will now go through our forwarding system and will require several days for processing before it is returned for delivery," Negron said. He urged postal patrons who have neglected to notify their correspondants, including banks, utilities, and other companies of their 911 addresses at once to avoid inconvenient delays in receiving bills, checks, and other vital correspondence.

GOOD NIGHT DEAR GOD

The sun has gone down from the sky and peace of night is drawing nigh. I pray, dear God my soul you'll keep while in your loving arms I sleep. Forgive the things I did today when from your glorious path I'd stray. As I slumber through the night, please take my hand and hold it tight, and when I awake to a bright new morn, restored, refreshed, renewed, reborn, I'll try again Dear God to be the person you would hope of me. THE BOOK OF REVELATION

We've all heard the familiar saying, "Will You Be Left Behind?" referring to the end of times. The Book of Revelation in our Bible carries with it a universal interest by most Christians throughout this area and our world. We invite you to join us for a day-long seminar on the Catholic perspective of this Book in our Scriptures given by Dr. Margie Ralph, renowned speaker and author. This seminar is sponsored by Prince of Peace and St. Julie's Catholic Churches and will be held at:

Morehead State University
Crager Conference Room at the Adron Doran University Center
University Boulevard
Morehead, Kentucky
On
OCTOBER 8, 2005
9:00 A.M. UNTIL 3:30 P.M.

There will be a registration fee of $6.00 requested by September 24, 2005. A box lunch will be provided. For more information, please call the Prince of Peace Catholic Church at (606) 743-3266 or (606) 4817.
